500 REENACTORS
IN PERIOD COSTUME

SUNDAY
JULY 5, 2026

For one exceptional weekend, the Palace of Versailles commemorates the 250th anniversary of American Independence with a grand historical festival designed for the whole family.

Following the troop review on the Parade Ground of the Trianon Estate, step into the largest historical reenactment encampment ever presented in the Gardens of Trianon. Explore King Louis XVI's royal quarter, the American insurgents' camp, and the British forces' encampment.

Throughout your visit, meet 500 passionate reenactors who bring this fascinating period back to life. Uniforms, equipment, daily activities, and camp scenes have been recreated with remarkable attention to detail, offering an authentic immersive experience.

Military displays, cavalry demonstrations, traditional crafts, and period skills bring this exceptional weekend to life. Scottish reels, Boston dances, and concerts of 18th-century music invite visitors of all ages on a true journey through time.

The highlight of the event, The Great Battle, recreates the decisive confrontation at Yorktown in a spectacular performance featuring American insurgents, their French allies, and British troops.

Encampments, reenactments, music, and entertainment: experience history brought to life in the heart of the Palace of Versailles.
